At Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta, we offer the professionally enriching career you’d expect from one of the nation’s leading pediatric healthcare systems. Currently, we have an opportunity available:

Pediatric Research Neuropsychologist and Research Scientist

In this position, you will be dedicated to research in the Cardiac Division at Sibley Heart Center, while collaborating with ongoing neurodevelopmental research projects focusing on congenital heart disease. Joining collaboration between the Sibley Heart Center at Emory University School of Medicine and Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta, this is a unique opportunity to be part of the hospital-based efforts to merge research interests related to the neurodevelopmental conditions that impact both the cardiac and neurosciences service lines.

Treating more than 35,000 children each year, the Children’s Healthcare of Atlanta Sibley Heart Center is one of the largest volume pediatric cardiac programs in the nation and has garnered national recognition for innovative treatments, leading-edge research and compassionate care.

If you’re ready to pursue the promising career we have to offer, please visit our website. For additional information, please contact Riley Palmer, Physician Recruiter, 404.785.7819, riley.palmer@choa.org.
