Cover picture: Double immunofluorescent labeling in culture of rod photoreceptor cell bodies and their neurites with the Rho-4D2 monoclonal antibody (yellow) and the underlying retinal glia cells with the monoclonal antibody to vimentin (green). The double labeling allowed the detection of neurites from rod photoreceptor cells and the demonstration that, regardless of the substrate and culture conditions, growth of rod processes was limited to the glial cell surfaces. See Kljavin and Reh, pp. 2985–2994.

Erratum: In the Table of Contents of the August 1991 issue, the name of the first author of “The Lurcher Cerebellar Mutant Phenotype Is Not Expressed on a staggerer Mutant Background” (The Journal of Neuroscience 11:2295–2302) was misspelled. The authors’ names are correct as they appeared in the article: Anne Messer, Bonnie Eisenberg, and Julie Plummer. The publisher regrets this error.

Erratum: A correction was inadvertently omitted from “Social Status in Pairs of Male Squirrel Monkeys Determines the Behavioral Response to Central Oxytocin Administration,” by James T. Winslow and Thomas R. Insel (The Journal of Neuroscience 11:2032–2038, July 1991). On page 2036, the sentence beginning in the seventh line of the second column should read “A similar recalcitrance to change has been reported for subordinate members of talapoin monkey groups (Eberhart et al., 1985).” The publisher regrets this error.

Erratum: In “Selective and Divided Attention during Visual Discriminations of Shape, Color, and Speed: Functional Anatomy by Positron Emission Tomography,” by Maurizio Corbetta et al. (The Journal of Neuroscience 11:2383–2402, August 1991), in the discussion section “Attention to speed” on page 2396, the authors incorrectly listed Zeki et al. in the citations of a sentence that referred to the work of Miezin and colleagues. The paper by Zeki et al. (1991) reports separate work, in which a similar activation occurs under very similar stimulation conditions.
