Correction: Mišić et al., Post-Traumatic Stress Constrains the Dynamic Repertoire of Neural Activity
